

HOUSE TO VOTE ON REPEAL FIRST DAY OF SESSION

That Is Program Adopted By Leaders Of Majority Party

Washington, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Speaker John N. Garner today announced he would recognize a motion to suspend the rules for a vote on the resolution to repeal the 18th Amendment on the first day of the coming session of Congress.

The Vice President-elect said, "both parties have demanded an opportunity to vote on it and I'm going to let them vote on it December 5."

Only a moment before, on the Senate side of the Capitol, similar sentiments were expressed by Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader.

Submission of a repeal amendment to the states would require two-thirds of those voting in the House and Senate.

McNary told newspapermen that in view of the actions of the political conventions, he would urge an early congressional decision.

Form Undetermined
Senate leaders had not determined today what form the proposed resolution should take.

Asked whether he did not consider such a move as breaking a precedent due to the fact that the President's annual message would not yet have been read to the Congress, Garner replied that he did not know "very much about precedents" but added, "I don't see why we shouldn't submit it now."

Meanwhile, it developed that a committee representing all brewers in the United States has been summoned to meet here next week to draft a report by the industry and suggestions to Congress looking toward modification.

Brewers To Meet
Members of the House Ways and Means committee have informally asked the United States Brewers Association to submit data on "the state of the industry" by December 7.

Quick action plans drew immediate support from Senator Harrison of Mississippi, a spokesman for the Democrats.

Agreeing with McNary's plan to consider a submission resolution at the opening of Congress, Harrison said he saw no objection to it in view of the proposal of House leaders to do the same.

"I want to take up as many of these proposals as possible and get rid of them in the short session of Congress," Harrison said.

Washington, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment may be voted on by the House, Dec. 5th, the opening day of Congress. Leaders have hit upon a plan which they will present to their colleagues today to gain support for speedy determination of this question in that branch of Congress.

As discussed by Speaker Garner he would recognize a member to move suspension of the rules and ask for an immediate vote on a repeal resolution.

With a two-thirds majority required to suspend the rules and a like majority necessary to pass a constitutional amendment, Representative McDuffie of Alabama, the Democratic whip has written members of his party to be present Dec. 5th, although ordinary the opening day is one only of routine business.

To Limit Debate
Under House Rules, legislation can be taken up under suspension only on the first and third Mondays of each month. Dec. 5th is the first Monday of that month. Debate would be limited to forty minutes.

In urging adoption of a repeal resolution this session, Snell said yesterday he favored a plan modeled along the lines set forth in the Republican platform, cutting the saloon and providing federal protection to dry states. Snell long has been regarded as a prohibition supporter.

Earlier Garner, who seeks to carry out the Democratic platform of outright repeal and modification of the Volstead Act as quickly as possible, had expressed the "hope and belief the House will pass a beer bill by Jan. 1st."

Democratic Program
The Democrats have decided upon a program calling for legalizing of beer this session and to that end hearings have been set for Dec. 7th.

Senator Borah (R., Idaho), a leading prohibitionist, declared yesterday that "orderly procedure" would require consideration of prohibition repeal before proposals to make beer legal. He is opposed to both.

Should a resolution be acted upon favorably by the House similar action would be required in the Senate before submission to the states for ratification by 36 of their number.

Predicting that states would soon act upon it in the event of adoption by Congress, Snell pointed out yesterday that legislatures of all but four meet in the coming winter.

Leaders Differ
However the Democratic and Republican floor leaders of the House differed today over whether prohibition repeal should be taken up there on the first day of Congress, a week from next Monday.

Representative Rainey, who heads the Democratic majority, said he approved the plan put forward by Speaker Garner.

But Representative Snell, minority chief, told reporters he seriously doubted "it would be the best judgment."

Snell said it was entirely in (Continued on Page 2)

Terse Items Of News Gathered In Dixon During Day

BOWLING SUNDAY
The Rochelle Recreation bowling team will roll a match series with the Dixon Recreation Sunday afternoon, the first game starting at 3 o'clock.

NEW PHONE DIRECTORY
The forty-seventh directory of the Dixon Home Telephone Co. was issued from the B. F. Shaw Printing Co. presses this week and copies have been distributed to the company's subscribers.

CUT HAND BADLY
Mrs. Blake Grover suffered a very painful injury at her home yesterday afternoon when four fingers of the right hand were cut to the bone. She was opening a tin can when the opener slipped and the ragged tin cover cut the fingers. Several stitches were required to close the deep flesh wounds.

TO ENTER HOSPITAL
Monte Weeks will on Monday enter the Edward Hines Memorial hospital at Hines for treatment. It is anticipated he will be there for some months, and in his absence Mrs. Weeks is closing their home in Grand Detour and will room at the residence of Mrs. Queta Cortright, 215 Hennepin Avenue.

INJURED FOLKS HOME
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dysart of this city and Mr. and Mrs. George Emmert of Nachusa returned to their homes last evening where they are recovering from serious injuries sustained in an automobile crash Thursday morning at the west of Geneva on the Lincoln Highway. Kenneth Dysart, and wife of Terre Haute, Ind., who were visiting in Wilmette over Thanksgiving, and to which city the local people were bound, brought the injured persons to their homes. All were reported to be making very promising recovery.

Lloyd Albright of West Chicago, formerly of Polo, was still in a hospital at Geneva suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries. His condition was reported quite critical this morning.

Mr. Albright and wife were enroute to Polo to spend Thanksgiving when the head-on crash occurred.

TRUCK BURNED UP
A large tractor-trailer type motor truck was completely destroyed by fire on the Lincoln Highway, one and one-half miles west of Rochelle yesterday afternoon about 3:30. The driver, Archie Ricks of Rock Island, was able to disconnect the tractor and drive it away before the flames broke from the closed truck body. The community fire truck from Rochelle was summoned to the scene, but the truck and its contents were almost completely consumed by the flames which were fanned by a strong wind.

The freight unit belonged to the Pioneer Service Company of Rock Island and was transporting a cargo of provisions and merchandise from Chicago to the tri-cities. The entire contents were consumed in the flames. Traffic was held up on the Lincoln Highway until the fire truck from Rochelle arrived and succeeded in partially extinguishing the flames. State Highway Officer Hal Roberts of this city was returning from West Chicago shortly after the driver discovered the fire in the truck and he diverted the traffic on the highway until the fire was extinguished.

Bert Arnold Will Enter Guilty Plea
Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—An agreement for Bert Arnold 17-year old killer of his step-grandmother to plead guilty was reached today between prosecutors and defense attorneys.

State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchbourne said it had not been determined, however, whether the youth would plead guilty to murder or to manslaughter.

A plea of guilty to murder carries a minimum sentence of 14 years in the state penitentiary. The sentence for manslaughter would be from one to 14 years in the state reformatory.

Young Arnold confessed he killed Mrs. Ellen Saxe, 60, with a hammer because she refused him permission to drive her automobile to a church dance.

Says Legion Stands On Biblical Theory
Richmond, Va., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Louis A. Johnson, National Commander, today asserted that the theory of the American Legion on national defense could be summed up in the Biblical text: "A strong man, well armed, keepeth his palace in peace."

He said the Legion has a serious and important program for "safeguarding those institutions and ideals are consistently building up. Adding that "today we have sunk to a new low in our preparedness in the navy," he promised "God giving it help, the Legion still is going to try and keep up the standard of the National Defense Act of 1920."

Princeton Man Commits Suicide
Princeton, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Harry A. Evans, 58, unmarried, committed suicide with a shotgun. A brother, Samuel, discovered the body.

AGED STRANGER AT JAIL MAY BE AMNESIA VICTIM

Found South Of City, Can Give No Good Account Of Life

An aged man, known only as Frank Gordon and about 70 years of age, is being held at the county jail while Sheriff Fred Richardson is making every effort to locate either relatives or friends. The stranger appears to be suffering from amnesia or a mental affliction and is unable to give any account of himself. He was taken in custody by Deputy Ward Miller and State Highway Officer Frank Tyne about noon yesterday, when farmers living seven miles south of Dixon on state highway, route 89, complained that a ragged, unkempt man had been spending two days in a rural school building and had begged food in the vicinity.

At the county jail in reply to questions, the aged stranger gave the name of Frank Gordon and stated that he lived five miles north of New Orleans, La. Later he claimed residence in Manitoba, Canada. He was scantily clad and suffering from lack of food.

Farmers who called the sheriff's office yesterday, stated that they had observed the stranger loitering about a school house, which is closed for the Thanksgiving vacation, for two days prior to yesterday. He had applied at some of the farm homes, begging for food.

Has No Belongings
He carried no papers or means of identification, but in each of his stories, he maintains that his name is Frank Gordon and gives his age as 34 years. Sheriff Richardson places little foundation in the stranger's stories as he appears to be about 70 years of age. He has no knowledge of what part of the country he is in at this time and can give no approximate time of his presence in this vicinity. This morning he appeared some brighter after having had a much needed bath and a warm place to sleep with hot meals, but maintained that he had been a resident of the county jail for three or four months.

His condition does not indicate that he is insane, although Sheriff Richardson has forwarded descriptions of the stranger to several of the state institutions and to sheriffs of several northern Illinois counties.

LIVED UP TO NAME
Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The charge was drinking. A defendant stepped forward. "Name?" asked Judge John P. Haas in the Des Plaines street court.

"Charles Littlewig" answered the defendant.

"Disgraced" said the court. "And try to live that name down."

KIN OF SMITH REYNOLDS SHOT SELF LAST EVE

Second of Mysterious Shootings In Rich N. C. Family

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 26.—(AP)—For the second time within six months a pistol bullet has smashed into the head of a relative of the late R. J. Reynolds, who built a fortune in tobacco here, and mystery cloaks both shootings.

Robert C. Critz, 35-year-old aviation enthusiast whose mother was a sister of R. J. Reynolds, lay in a hospital here today, dangerously wounded with a bullet near his brain.

Critz was shot while in the bathroom of his home last night.

The fatal shooting of his cousin, young Smith Reynolds, last July 6 led to the indictment for murder of Smith's bride, Libby Holman Reynolds, and his close friend, Albert Walker. The charges were dropped recently because of lack of evidence. Critz was a witness at the inquest into his cousin's death.

Relatives of Critz said they were unable to say whether the shooting was "accidental or intentional." A pistol owned by Critz's father inflicted the wound, they say.

Critz had been at home with his wife and one child, relatives said. Shortly after he went to the bathroom servants heard a shot and found him wounded.

Physicians planned to operate today to remove the bullet if his condition permitted.

Critz had been ill recently, his family said. He is a buyer for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. Owning a plane, he is a licensed pilot and has flown to nearly every section of the country.

Continuation Of White Domination
Of South Foreseen

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Perpetuation of white domination in the south if the power of control is exercised "wisely and justly" is forecast by James W. Garner of the University of Illinois, internationally known authority on political science and government.

Speaking before the Southern Political Science Association here last night, Dr. Garner expressed the belief that if the "white people of the south exercise their power of control wisely and justly it can be perpetuated until the end of time without protest or interference on the part of the country at large or indeed without serious opposition from the black race itself. x x x

"The truth is there is hardly a man of note in the north today who would take away the admitted right of southern states to restrict the elective franchise to such of their citizens as in their judgment are most fit and capable of exercising it for the public good."

The speaker pressed the opinion that the "two party system" in politics "with all its defects is preferable to the multiple party system which is little short of a curse of Europe."

Senator Johnson Can Care For Self

San Francisco, Nov. 26.—(AP)—United States Senator Hiram Johnson, departing for Washington, declared he and other Republicans who bolted the party to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for President "can take care of themselves."

"There has been a lot said of late," remarked the Senator as he boarded a train last night, "about what is going to be done to progressives by the lackeys of special interests. Progressive Republicans can take care of themselves, and, incidentally, of those whose first allegiance is to the 'big interests' of the nation."

Senator Johnson expressed opposition to "cancellation, revision or reduction" of foreign debts owed the United States. He said legalization of wine and beer at the December session of Congress "is not unlikely."

Son Of State Rep. Allen Loses Arm

Frank Allen, son of Representative and Mrs. Henry C. Allen, of Lynn, suffered the loss of his left arm as the result of an accident while picking corn at his father's farm late Thursday afternoon, and for a time yesterday it was feared his injuries would prove fatal. However, a blood transfusion was resorted to at the Sterling public hospital, where the arm was amputated, and it was reported today his condition was encouraging. The young man climbed on top of the mechanical corn picker to make some adjustment when he slipped and fell, his arm being caught in the snapping roller. It was terribly mangled.

WIDOW, 106, DEAD
Carbondale, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Serena Carter, 106, of Carbondale, died yesterday. She was born in Green county, Tenn., and had been a widow for almost 70 years. Her husband lost his life in the Union army during the Civil War.

BUSINESS WOMAN DEAD
Elmhurst, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Eva Holland-Letz, 57, treasurer of the Letz Manufacturing Co. which she helped her father organize in Hammond, Ind., 40 years ago, died in a sanatorium here last night.

According to a wall tablet in Florence, Italy, spectacles were invented in the thirteenth century by an inhabitant of that city.

24 SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

RICH RANCHER LOST $91,000 IN CHI. HOTEL

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Police would like to know exactly how A. A. (Jack) Drummond, a rancher of Tulsa, Okla., came to lose $91,000 in a loop hotel.

Drummond's story is that the money disappeared from his hotel room sometime between Thursday night and 10 o'clock Friday morning.

It was in bills of $500 and $1,000 and was carried in a money belt, he said. Contrary to his custom and because he was "so full of turkey" he took the belt off before retiring. When he awoke it and the money was gone.

Skeptical at first regarding the amount involved, police said they were convinced Drummond had lost the money after Elmo Thompson, vice president of the Exchange National Bank of Tulsa, told them over the phone Drummond left there three weeks ago with $37,500 in cash on him.

Drummond then told them he drew out $10,000 more from the Kansas City Fidelity Trust & Savings Bank. Later he said, he visited Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cleveland, coming to Chicago Thanksgiving day.

The robbery theory was discarded by police when they suggested the possibility of Drummond having been the victim of confidence men, he replied.

"If that mob got the money, officers, forget the matter, for I'll get it back better than you will."

"That mob," Drummond disclosed, was several men who apparently had followed him around on his travels. They were stockmen, he said.

Drummond said he paid $750,000 for his ranch home and owns 21,500 head of cattle.

Chicagoans To Get Cut In Milk Price

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—A reduction of from 11 to 9 cents a quart for milk appears certain for Chicago, probably by December 1, as a result of a $5 weekly wage cut voted by members of the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers' Union yesterday.

Under the new scale drivers will receive $40 instead of $45 a week, the aggregate loss in weekly income to members of the union being estimated at approximately $35,000. The vote showed 2,758 favoring the reduction and 2,153 opposing the reduction.

The $5 cut is said to represent five-eighths of a cent on a quart. A "gentlemen's agreement" exists, union leaders said, whereby dairy operators will assume three eighths of a cent and farmers supplying the milk one cent a quart in order to bring about the two-cent slash in price.

Former Dixon Man Dead In Milwaukee

P. T. Sullivan of 419 College avenue, has received word of the death yesterday in Milwaukee, Wis., of his father, Lawrence Sullivan, aged 85, who until about six years ago made his home in this city. The deceased had been an invalid for the past two years and his death was not unexpected. Funeral services will be held at the home of his son, Frank Sullivan, 3615 No. Fifth Street, Milwaukee, Monday morning.

Mr. Sullivan was well known in this city, where for thirty years he was section foreman for the Northwestern and he had many friends here who will mourn his death.

Spend Honeymoon In Different Places

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—A bride and a groom were spending their "honeymoon" in separate jails approximately 50 miles apart today.

Vernon La Plante, 29, of St. Anne, Ill., and Helen Shaner, 24, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were married here yesterday shortly before being sentenced to serve thirty days in jail for violation of the Mann act. La-Harrisburg and his bride to Murphysboro.

LIVESTOCK SHOW FORMALLY OPEN; GIRL WON HONOR

North Dakota Farm Girl, 15, Makes Expo. History

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—American agriculture, in gala attire, took its bow before the public at the 33rd Annual International Livestock Show opened formally today, and youth continued to win the laurels.

It was college day, but there wasn't any "rah-rah" spirit apparent as teams from twenty agricultural institutions plunged into the task of livestock and crop judging.

Composed of five members each, the young agrarians appraised with judicial eye the assortment of horses, cattle, sheep and swine before them.

Iowa State College of Ames, Ia., was back in the lists to defend its title won last year. Two other schools have a leg on the bronze Spoor trophy—Oklahoma A. & M., which won in 1929, and Purdue University, winner the following year.

Feeding Competition
Sharing the center of the stage with the intercollegiate contest was the junior livestock feeding competition. Farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20, most of them state and county fair prize winners, exhibited baby beavers, lambs and pigs of their own feeding and fitting.

Highest honors in the non-collegiate stock judging contest, introductory act of the exposition yesterday, were back in the north-west today after a year below the Mason-Dixie line.

Minnesota's team won first place with a total of 1472 out of a possible 1800. West Virginia, winner last year, placed 11th among 16 entries.

It remained for 15-year-old Jean Leake to come east from her home in Emerald, N. D., to see Chicago for the first time, and conquer. She was high individual scorer, leading her closest rival by 21 points. Her feat made exposition history. It was the first time in the annals of the international that a girl has snatched the top award in the contest.

Two Of Madman's Victims May Die

Seattle, Nov. 26.—(AP)—While alienists prepared to examine Julian Marcelino, wholesale killer, two of the 13 persons he wounded in a Thanksgiving Day stabbing orgy lay near death today. Meanwhile preparations were being made for separate funerals for the six men he killed.

Doctors said 11 of the surviving victims were recovering, but Antonio Scrivener, 73, and K. Yashuda, 50, a Japanese, had only a "fair" chance to recover.

Dr. D. A. Nicholson was to examine the mental condition of the 30-year-old Filipino today for the state preparatory to Marcelino's trial for first degree murder. He is charged with killing Tito Guatlo, a fellow countryman and his first victim, whom he believed had stolen his savings.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Is Back From Orient

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the late President, arrived in Chicago today, remarked about the cold weather, spoke about the rainy weather in Japan, declined to be interviewed, and left the station for a visit with relatives. Mrs. Wilson has just returned from Japan where she attended the wedding of a relative.

Mrs. Wilson plans to spend a few days in Chicago, at the home of a niece, before returning to her Washington home. She smiled when the Democratic election victory was mentioned, but declined to comment. The only remarks she made, were to the effect that this was the first cold weather she had encountered and that in Japan women were still wearing white summer dresses.

Hindenburg Holds Crown Council Meet

Berlin, Nov. 26.—(AP)—President Von Hindenburg held a "crown council" with his closest advisers today and decided to postpone the appointment of a new Chancellor for the Reich for several days.

The delay was believed due to the fact Hindenburg wished to ascertain how the Reichstag would regard the appointment of a presidential cabinet different than the Junker government of Chancellor Franz von Papen.

While official circles did not appear to expect support for such a government from the majority of the Reichstag, they seemed to hope at least either for toleration by pivotal parties, or an agreement to give a new cabinet a chance to work by adjourning several months.

The pivotal parties might be the Centrists, and possibly the Nazis of Adolf Hitler, who declined to form a parliamentary government.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—A raid was conducted in the fashionable area of the city today, resulting in the arrest of a man and the seizure of a large quantity of alcohol.

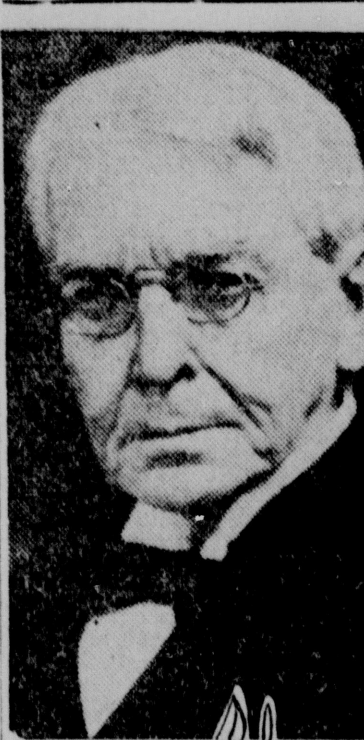

On the first floor and in the basement of his apartment they said they confiscated more than 1,000 gallons of alleged alcohol, wines, gin and beer.

Agents said they found 12 pints of whisky in the soft drink parlor of Russell Walker at Coal City in Grundy county. Walker was taken into custody.

Big Ten Gridiron
Receipts Fall Off

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—While Western Conference football attendance figures this year are estimated as only a little off from last year's the total receipts for 1932 will be radically less than the $1,500,000 produced in 1931. In order to bring in the customers it was necessary to reduce admission prices, the reductions ranging from 50 cents to $1.50 per seat.

Former Head Of Princeton U. Died In Bermuda

ASSOCIATED PRESS (O. J. TURNER)
FRANCIS L. PATTON

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Dr. Francis L. Patton, former president of Princeton University, died last night at King Edward VII hospital after a short illness. He would have been 90 years old in January.

He was president of Princeton from 1888 to 1902. Woodrow Wilson succeeded him. Patton then became president of the Princeton Theological Seminary, serving in that capacity for eleven years.

In 1913 he retired from active life and came to Bermuda where he was born in 1843.

Before the Princeton chapter he filled pastorates at New York, Brooklyn and Nyack, N. Y. In 1871 he became Professor of Theology in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Chicago, now McCormick Seminary. He filled that position for ten years, serving also as pastor of the Jefferson Park Presbyterian church.

MEXICO MOURNS
DEATH OF WIFE
OF GEN. CALLES

Former "First Lady" of Republic Dead After Long Illness

Mexico City, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Government offices were closed in mourning today as a mark of respect to Senora Leonora Lorente de Calles, who died yesterday after a long illness caused by a brain tumor.

The "Iron man" of Mexico, Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, who had guided the republic for more than a decade, sat in his room across the patio from his wife's coffin, his eyes moist with tears.

Still stern-visaged, his face was drawn with the fatigue of months by the side of the young woman whose life was doomed several months ago.

More than 1,000 floral pieces and many telegrams arrived at the Calles home during the night as friends of the couple stood guard in groups of eight beside the burned coffin.

President Abelardo Rodriguez, Gen. Manuel Perez Trevisa, President of the National Revolutionary party, and members of the Cabinet made an honor guard around the bier, for an hour last night.

Ambassador Clark of the United States, as dean of the diplomatic corps, called to pay his personal condolences.

Senora Calles as the General's second wife, having married him in 1930, three years after his first wife died. She was 30 years old, and the mother of two of the General's 11 children.

DEBTOR NATIONS CONSIDER NEXT MOVE IN PARLEY

null and void, we acquiesce, but also we consider our course always in the same spirit of peace, but always with constant care in defending our rights and the just interests of our country, and taking the widest account of confidence and accord between us and our British friends. Meanwhile, yesterday's Cabinet meeting developed two viewpoints, it was reported in parliamentary circles. One held that if England paid, France should pay, considering, however, the feasibility of making the deposit in the Bank for International Settlements. The other, represented by Finance Minister Germain-Martin, held the French Treasury does not permit the payment, and that France would act against the spirit of the Lausanne agreement if she paid. That agreement scaled down German reparations payments to a bonded maximum of $714,000,000.

BRITISH SKEPTICAL

London, Nov. 26—(AP)—The British government proceeded today in the belief that arrangements would yet be made to pass the December war debt payment to the United States, despite advice from Washington to the contrary. It will follow up a note sent earlier in the month requesting suspension of the $95,550,000 installment—a note to which Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson replied yesterday. What the new note may contain was a matter of conjecture, but before its framers was an expression of good will by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. "The discussions with the United States are arousing no bad feeling between us," was the Prime Minister's statement.

Chancellor's View

As summed up for the British taxpayer, the British viewpoint was expressed thus by Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer: "We never contemplated a state of things in which we might be asked to make payments equivalent to another shilling on the pound on our income tax while at the same time we received nothing from our debtors. "That would be a position which like from the point of view of justice and from the point of view of the possibility of maintaining the prosperity of our industries would be absolutely insupportable." The British income tax amounts to 25 per cent now. If it went up, it would amount to 30 per cent, according to the Chancellor.

THREE DECATUR MINERS' HOMES BOMBED TODAY

None Injured: The Cora Mine Is Closed By Pickets

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 26—(AP)—The homes of three miners, members of the United Mine Workers of America, were bombed early today without injury to any of the occupants. Extensive damage, however, was done to the houses and windows were broken in buildings for several blocks. A bomb was tossed onto the front porch of a house occupied by William Zunzell, wrecking the front part of the house and shattering the window panes. The family was asleep at the time. A short while later another bomb was tossed onto the ground between the homes of Theodore Barn and Gottlieb Roesch, causing slight damage to both structures. Police were unable to find anyone who had seen the bombers. Both bombings occurred between 2:30 and 3:00 o'clock this morning. Officials believe black powder bombs were used, as the destructive force of the explosions was slight compared to what it might have been, they said, if dynamite had been employed. All three miners are employed at the Macon county coal mine where pickets belonging to the striking Progressive Miners of America have several times engaged in clashes with deputy sheriffs and state highway police.

PICKETS EFFECTIVE

Auburn, Ill., Nov. 26—(AP)—A crowd of striking coal miners, estimated by deputy sheriffs to number 200, swarmed into this mining village today and prevented 15 hikers from going to work. There were no disorders but the presence of the pickets, said by officials to belong to the Progressive Miners of America, caused the local miners, who belong to the United Mine Workers of America, from leaving their homes. The pickets invaded Auburn yesterday but the 15 Cora miners made their way through the lines and went to work.

Sweden's Wood Industry

Sweden was among the first countries to advocate reforestation and few if any countries of the world have succeeded as Sweden in rationalizing the care of the forests and the various industries derived therefrom. The result is that the country now stands in the very front ranks as a producer of soft wood, wood pulp and all the by-products of the sawmill industry. As a result of the care and intelligence exercised the wood has been shown by test to be of a very superior quality. The timber is felled at a time when the sap does not circulate; the floating in very cold water reduces the risk of disease in the logs; the material handled by modern machinery and last but not least the superior quality of the labor employed, which has a fine sense of judgment in matters of wood quality.

"Bumping Off" Trainmen

Some years ago a practice known as "bumping off" was common among train workers. Under the rules of seniority, any engineer, for instance, could bid in the run of any other engineer of fewer years' service than he. Now and then, if an unpopular man, or one incurring the enmity of others, obtained a run he might be permitted to keep it until he became well established, perhaps even moving his family to the end of the run, after which an older engineer would "bump him off," or bid in his run. This sort of treatment could be carried on indefinitely, engineers sometimes giving up passenger runs for freight cars in order to punish a man believed in need of discipline by his fellows.

Jasmine Origin Unknown

Jasmine, often considered the perfume most pleasing to men in general, is obtained from a shrub of that name common in Asia and Europe. The origin of the jasmine is unknown, but it is known to have been brought to Europe from Asia, where it met instant approval and the plant is to be found almost everywhere in the two continents where the winter is not too severe. At maturity the shrub grows to a height of from 6 to 10 feet and is covered with evergreen leaves and bears a white, waxy flower.

ROOSEVELT TO SEE HEADS OF AGRICULTURE

Arranges Conferences to Discuss Problems Of The Farmers

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 26—(AP)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt turned his attention today to problems that have beset the farmer more than a century and arranged to interrupt his vacation for conferences with a committee from the National Grange and a group of members of the house Agriculture committee.

At the head of the group of farm leaders, comprising the executive committee of the National Grange, who arranged to come to see the President-elect, was Fred J. Prentiss, Master of the New York State National Grange, and an old acquaintance of Mr. Roosevelt.

The Grangers carried the plan of the National Grange for the rehabilitation of agriculture to lay before the President-elect. Mr. Roosevelt had not been informed in advance of what they planned to propose. In his speech at Topeka during the campaign he suggested that the leaders of the farm organizations get together and agree upon a plan for aiding the farmers.

Some of the advisers of the New York Governor at that time considered that the plan he outlined seemed to be a description of the domestic allotment plan under which the farmers would be guaranteed the cost of production for all grain that was allocated to meet domestic requirements.

To Meet Congressmen Shortly after the visit of the Grange committee Mr. Roosevelt will receive the group of members of the House Agriculture committee. With them he will discuss the plan by which the Democratic party hopes to bring the farmer out of the difficulties he has not yet disclosed the details of this plan.

The groups will see Mr. Roosevelt in a little white house that has been changed considerably since his election to the presidency. It sits just below the brow of a hill on a slope overlooking the wooded foothills of central Georgia.

At the entrance to the grounds a lookout booth has been set up for Secret Service men at which they stop and question all persons seeking admittance.

Beyond this, passing along a little roadway through the oaks and pines, the visitor comes to a four columned, white cottage set just below a two-car garage.

Inside the delegations will meet the President-elect in a long living room with a stone fireplace, flanked by built-in bookcases. Over the mantle stands a model of a three-masted schooner. Along the walls are displayed pictures of ships.

Even the clock over the mantle piece takes a nautical air. Around its face stand out the handprints of a ship's wheel.

And below, at a plain oak desk a cigarette holder curled between his teeth, smiling upward, sits Franklin D. Roosevelt, ready to banter or to argue as the case may be.

Action Promised Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—Speedy consideration of farm relief measures was promised today with Senate and House agriculture committees agreeing to hold early hearings on such legislation.

Chairman McNary of the Senate group offered to cooperate with House Democratic leaders who are drafting a farm program to be acted upon in the forthcoming short session.

The export debenture, equalization fee and domestic allotment plans will be taken up by the committees. President-elect Roosevelt in conferences with Democratic leaders here this week said he desired to have agricultural aid enacted this session if possible, but Representative Snell of New York, Republican leader, warned yesterday that such a controversial issue as farm relief would be difficult to solve before March.

Philippine independence which is linked with farm relief comes before the Senate three days after Congress convenes. Senator Smoot (R. Utah) predicted yesterday that it would be approved by Congress before or soon after Christmas.

Depression To Be Debated At Hobo Convention

Chicago, Nov. 26—(AP)—From the steppes of Russia to the jungles of Brazil, the hobos are riding the freight trains and the cattle boats to their annual convention.

They will hold it at hobo college on Chicago's West Madison street—and it will start whenever all the delegates arrive, which should be any time now.

"We can't depend too much on when they'll get here," Jack McBeth supreme prexy of the college, explained today. "Freight trains run on slow schedules, you know, and some of our delegates are guests for 30 days of cities along the way."

Already arrived, however, are delegates from France, Roumania, Panama, and several South American nations.

"The main business to be settled," McBeth said, "is the problem of how to treat the 'depression stiff.'"

Miss Murray Addresses League Women Voters Friday P. M.

The Dixon League of Women Voters was entertained at the home of Mrs. Z. W. Moss Friday afternoon, Nov. 25.

The program of the afternoon was presented by the Social Hygiene Committee, of which Mrs. Warren G. Murray is chairman. Following a brief business session the president, Mrs. H. A. White, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Murray, who introduced Miss Virginia Murray of New York City as the speaker of the afternoon.

Miss Murray, who is a sister of Dr. Warren G. Murray of the Dixon State Hospital, is the executive secretary of the Traveler's Aid Society. Her work with the aid society and as director of police women in various cities have given her many thrilling contacts and a large fund of personal expenses to illustrate her talk and made it most interesting to her listeners.

Miss Murray in her introduction paid a special tribute to the League of Women Voters organizations, finding them always ready to cooperate and help in her work.

As in all other new movements progress has been slow. Many times the police commissioners have to be educated as well as the public.

To open the attitude of the police authorities has been antagonistic to the young offenders, "catch them young, sentence them, jail them" without investigation of the underlying causes of the action of the youthful law breaker.

The establishment of the Bureau for Crime Prevention has changed this attitude. Boys and girls are both included in this work.

Hoodlum gangs are broken up, the individuals investigated and cared for. Some are sent to county reform schools, some paroled to Big Brothers or Big Sisters, or other agencies.

The Hard-to-get-along-with-child, the mentally defective, the moral degenerate, the physically handicapped child, these are cared for in the best way, which the police women and judges find.

The work of the police women was first started in Portland, Oregon, in 1899, and was financed by a group of women.

Col. Arthur Woods was the first commissioner in New York to start the movement. His successor was opposed to the service but it was later organized and has been very successful.

Leaders for the Crime Prevention Bureau are carefully selected. Applicants are required to be either university graduates or have five years of accredited social service work. Of 400 applicants taking the Civil Service test, 44 passed and 25 were chosen. As these women rank the police officers in some cases tact and judgment are also needed. Ten divisions were organized in the city of New York and the Crime Prevention Work has been so recognized that inquiries all over the world are received at headquarters.

With a test of 6800 cases under investigation there resulted 230 arrests. A very good showing for this work. Miss Murray continued her talk with some of her experience in the Traveler's Aid Work of which she is executive secretary.

This organization has 1900 branches in the United States and is supported by voluntary contributions. 4200 persons have been assisted in some way during the past year. 2400 children traveling alone have had the watchful care of this service.

Due to the present economic conditions, a great number of young people, with boys and girls, are drifting about the country, graduating from high school and colleges coming home to find no place for their efforts in the economic or industrial life of the community, a burden in some cases to their families. The shock has been too great they have lost their pride and become wanderers in search of thrills and work, or more congenial surroundings. The results being associations with the tramp element, the criminally inclined, the communistic groups, and the physical and moral misfits.

The Traveler's Aid Society is endeavoring to help as many of these young people as is possible. Some are returned to their homes where are found positions. Some are paroled to Big Brothers or Big Sisters.

The average traveler is most grateful for the aid which the society renders in cases of accident, illness en route or other mishaps, and many are the grateful acknowledgements from people who have been assisted.

In conclusion Miss Murray quoted a few lines which Dr. Henry Vandye had sent the Traveler's Aid Society in remembrance of assistance given to some of his family.

Oh thou great companion who carest for all thy pilgrims and strangers, We thank thee for the comfort of a comrade on the distant road.

After the meeting adjourned Miss Murray was kept busy answering questions when the hostess served tea to the members and guests.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Moss' house guest, and Mrs. Mae Fallors, Mrs. Howard Murray's mother from California and Dr. Murray's mother from Dayton, Ohio.

Fri-Lo-Ha Class Enjoys Meeting With Miss Starkey

The Fri-Lo-Ha class of the Christian Sunday school held its monthly meeting Monday evening at the home of Miss Alice Starkey, 915 North Dixon avenue.

The meeting was well attended, there being twenty members and one guest present.

Miss Catherine Preston, the president, called the meeting to order. The class song "On Fri-Lo-Ha" was then sung.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Helen Fish.

Treasurer's report, Miss Leona Ott.

Offering collected.

Prayer—Miss Leona Ott.

Four new members were then welcomed into the class by president. A song "Just One More Friend" was sung by the members of the class in honor of the new members. The new members are as follows: Misses Marion Quacco, Bernice Peckham, Catherine Slater and Leona Clayton.

Christmas activities of the class were then discussed with the president and teacher of the class. The Christmas meeting being planned to meet at the home of Miss Ott.

New officers were then elected for the coming six months. They are as follows:

President—Miss Savilla Palmer.
Vice Pres.—Miss Catherine Preston.

Sec.—Mrs. Dorothy Taylor.
Treas.—Eleta McConaughy.
Librarian—Miss Marion Quacco.

These new officers will be installed in their offices next month at Miss Leona Ott's home.

Devotions were led by Miss Helen McGonigle. An article on the "Lineage of Christ" was given.

A very happy social hour was enjoyed after the adjourning of the meeting.

Temping refreshments were served by the hostess. At a late hour the girls departed after a very happy and pleasant meeting with Miss Starkey.

Training Schools For Leaders Lee Co. Home Bureau Units

Training schools for local leaders of the Lee County Home Bureau were held in Amboy township high school, Monday, Nov. 21st, and in the assembly room of the Northern Illinois Utilities Co. in Dixon Tuesday, Nov. 22nd. The lesson in re-upholstering furniture was given by Miss Osabelle, specialist in Home Furnishings, of the University of Illinois, assisted by Mrs. Florence Syverud, Home Advisor of the Lee County Home Bureau.

The lesson was very interesting and will be profitable for all Home Bureau members who hear the lesson given at the Unit meetings.

The ladies present at the training school in Amboy were Mrs. Dishong, Mrs. Degner, and Mrs. Bieseker of Lee Center; Mrs. Antoine of Amboy; Mrs. Daum of Marion; Mrs. Pfouts of Bradford.

The ladies present at the training school in Dixon were Mrs. George Ross, Mrs. Ellis Kugler and Mrs. Jay Wadsworth of Harmon; Mrs. Peckham, Mrs. Auman and Mrs. Smythe of Dixon; Mrs. Carl Ackert of Marion; Mrs. Hoyle and Mrs. Harold McCleary of South Dixon; Mrs. Flack of Amboy; Miss Rasmussen of Compton; Mrs. Carl Straw and Mrs. Schott of Palmyra; Mrs. Roy McCleary of Nelson.

Miss Jean Leake Winner 4-H Club Contest at Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 26—(AP)—Jean Leake, 15, brown eyed and pretty, conquered the International Live-stock Exposition on her first trip from her North Dakota farm residence.

Twenty-four hours after arriving she won the first purple ribbon at the big show, taking individual honors in the non-collegiate judging contest.

Now she is going to spend a week seeing the city. It is the first time she has been this far east.

Jean was the happiest girl in the nation last night when she was announced as the first girl to win the 4-H contest. Her score was among the highest in the history of the exposition.

Boys predominated the championship three-men teams from 16 farm states, but Jean's score was 21 points higher than her closest competitor. With her help, the team from Grand Forks county, North Dakota, took third place, being bettered only by Minnesota and Iowa.

The daughter and granddaughter of Red River valley farmers, Jean wasn't good enough last year for the team that won second place in North Dakota. Her older brother, Lloyd, made the team.

But this year, her revenge was complete. She defeated Lloyd in the county preliminaries and led the team to its international honors.

DEATH STILL DEFIES SCIENCE.

A child born today can expect to live at least 55 years. A child born 50 years ago had a life expectancy of only 35. But the grown man today—the man who is drifting into middle age—has very little more hope of reaching a ripe old age than a middle-aged man had in 1880.

Dr. L. F. Barker of Johns Hopkins made this clear in his recent speech at Indianapolis before the Interstate Post-graduate Medical Association of North America. Medical science, he pointed out, has greatly increased the average life span—by cutting down deaths among children and young men and women. The man who has got past his youth is little better off than his grandfather was at a corresponding period.

The shock troops of death seem to be massed against two sectors in the human life line; the sector reaching from birth to the age of 15 or 20, and the sector which begins in the late 50's.

On the first sector, medicine has erected splendid defenses. It beats back the assault of the shock troops with greater success each year. The child in the cradle today has a far better chance of reaching manhood than the child of a few decades ago.

But in the second sector, things have not gone so well. Medicine has struck telling blows at such foes as tuberculosis, diabetes, pernicious anemia and smallpox; but arterio-sclerosis, cancer, Bright's disease and the various afflictions of the heart remain as menacing as ever. The human machine seems to have a way of beginning to run down, when the three-score mark arrives, that baffles doctors of today almost as thoroughly as it baffled the doctors of old.

Medical science seems to incline more and more to the belief that a good inheritance is the greatest of all assets for the man who would live to a ripe old age; and a good inheritance is precisely the thing which no doctor can provide for us. Our bodies are what our parents gave us, and there is previous little we can do about it.

But the science of medicine, after all, is not through with the fight. Indeed, it has hardly begun. Each year it gets a little more light. The knowledge it now has, and the devotion with which it tackles its problems, are our best reasons for hope.

THE TEMPEST IN THE BARNYARD.

A minor political problem, but an interesting one nevertheless, is that raised by former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, who urges that the Democratic party drop the donkey as its emblem and return to the rooster.

By tradition, the rooster is the official Democratic trade mark. The donkey came into being because of the genius of Cartoonist Nast, half a century ago; and only the fact that Nast was such a tremendously able cartoonist made the donkey stick.

As Mr. Daniels points out, however, "the rooster has ten times more beauty and style and clarity than the donkey"; and he makes, very likely, a far better emblem. But will the party return to him? Few voters now alive can remember back to the pre-donkey age. It is probable that Mr. Daniels' campaign to retire the donkey will have hard sledding.

I was one of those who urged the American people to buy Liberty bonds so we could lend money to Europe. I don't think it is fair now for Europe to ask our taxpayers to pay off those bonds.—Edward William Pou, representative in Congress from North Carolina.

I'd be willing to vote for 2.75 per cent beer, or "slop," if the people want it—and they seem to want it. That's all the O'Connor bill calls for, and that's what it is—"slop."—James E. Watson, United States senator from Indiana.

The object of prohibition is to create temperance habits. This obviously has failed and, if it has, regulation must take its place.—George W. Wickersham, chairman, National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement.

Women shut up in houses and removed from all responsibilities of individual life are not conceivable in our time.—Signor Leonardo Arpinati, Italian undersecretary of the interior.

We fight a war for peace and straightway plunge into an orgy of war-breeding nationalism.—Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin.

It is just as blameworthy to have too many children as to have too much to drink—perhaps more so.—Dr. Amrose, East Ham coroner, England.

I am better at 40 adding machines. I make it faster than any adding machines. Also without mistakes.—Dr. Salo Finkelstein, Polish-Jewish mathematical wizard.

For me the symbol of war is not a lightly-clothed maid in presenting the palm of victory, but one big turnip.—Professor Gumbel of England.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The mountain goat walked cautiously and was as careful as it could be. "It surely is sure-footed," exclaimed Scouty, with a smile.

"If we keep moving on I guess that we'll soon be out of this mess," said Windy. "The bottom of the big mountain doesn't look more than a mile."

"That's where you are wrong," said Windy. "Say, I have often traveled around this way and distance really fools you. It is more like three miles, son."

"But, if we all can hang on very tight, I think that things will turn out right. Of course in the meantime, traveling like this is far from fun."

It wasn't long until the goat brought lumps to every Tinymite's throat. It walked near to a spot where all the bunch could gaze below.

The goat's foot slipped a little bit, which might have been the end of it. Another foot, though, stopped the goat. It was well it traveled slow.

Although the world is not yet out of the depression, signs have not been lacking of late that thinking men and women are looking to the future with something akin to optimism. Believing that, as in previous eras, the world slump will give way to a period of not of unknown prosperity, at least to one of average times.

The foundation of the success of our successful business concerns is advertising, and they have continued to be successful by the aid of continuous advertising.

The craze for speed seems to have all America in its grip. Many youthful motorists tear along the roads in an effort to pass some car ahead just to feel the thrill of the speed in passing. The motor boat, the airplane, heavy trucks and even railroad trains speed along as though the lives of the drivers depend on their getting to their journey's end as quickly as possible. This is one of the many reasons why we read of fatal accidents day after day.

The restoration of our economic

Soon Duncy said, "I see some smoke. If we reach that it will make us choke. Just look. It's right ahead of us. The goat seems frightened, too."

"Let's urge it on until we know if it is really safe to go on down the mountain side. I know not what else we can do."

The goat obeyed his kind command. Then, shortly, wee Scouty raised his hand and said, "It is a volcano. It is erupting, sure enough!"

"Well, walk up close so we can see a sight that's very strange to me. If it is safe, I'd love to watch the smoke rise, puff by puff."

"They hopped off of the goat all right. The beast then ran with all its might. 'Come back here,' shouted Coppy. 'We will leave here, if you will.'"

The goat, however, disappeared and Scouty said, "That's what I feared. We never should have stopped here just to get a little thrill."

vigor is not as easy as some believe. Without good planning and steady cooperation between the nation's leaders we won't get far. Let them not forget that general employment and increased markets must be promoted—and quickly too.

Every citizen of your community is sort of a relative. As a unit they are responsible for what work is done and what is left undone.

If one collects a lot of combustible material in a spot where there are dozens of agents for ignition, a conflagration is no more than a natural result. Our politicians have plenty of material, plenty of hot fires are burning—enough to keep the people on the side lines dizzy.

There still seems to be quite a number of people in this country who are trying to make it appear that all our disabled war veterans are athletes and millionaires. A chronic kicker is sure to let his foot slip some day.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

AMOS PEARBODY, elderly cousin of LINDA AVERILL, falls to his death from the second floor balcony of the Averill Long Island home. Linda reaches him just before he dies, in time to hear him say, "He pushed me—"

There are four guests in the house and all become suspects of the murder. All are strong physically, have violent tempers and all have quarreled with Cousin Amos. The four are: MR. STANTLANDER, middlewestern manager of the firm TOM AVERILL works for; MARVIN PRATT, former son-in-law of Linda's; CAPTAIN DEVOS, handsome Belgian representing a European perfume manufacturer; and LIAH SHAGHNESSY, Irish writer and lecturer. Linda, realizing her cousin had tried to tell her he was murdered, rushes up the stairs to the balcony. Someone steps behind her, tries to strangle her and she falls in a faint.

She regains consciousness several hours later. It is assumed the death was accidental and that Linda fainted from shock. When she is finally able to tell Tom what happened Linda insists they must keep the four guests with them until they discover which is the murderer. There is no evidence on which to arrest any one of the four. Tom hesitates. Finally agrees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

LINDA glanced again at the clock. After half-past 10—how the time sped by! Tom was still to be convinced and some plan to be agreed upon to hold the house party together.

"We must think of some way of keeping them here," she went on, "without giving everything away. 'Well then—well, I thought perhaps I could appeal to them. I could say—and it's true, Tom—that this was partly a business conference and therefore it would hurt you at the office if you didn't put it through. That would apply to Mr. Stantlander and Mr. DeVos. You do have to talk to them, don't you? I could appeal to Marvin—if I could get him alone—"

Her husband's face hardened but Linda hurried ahead: "I'd ask him as an old friend to stand by me because you had to be occupied a good deal with business. As for Mr. Shagnessy—well, he's a sponge, anyhow. A graceful, charming sponge, but the sort that's all for himself and probably has planned to spend a week or so in our garage at our expense. He won't need to be coaxed."

"That sounds plausible," Tom considered it while she anxiously studied his face. Would he agree? No, he wouldn't—yes, he might—no! "But Binks, it just wouldn't work. Put yourself in their places—a death in the family—"

"But Tom, we can tell them we hardly knew Cousin Amos—"

"Even so."

"And all the festivities planned for the Fourth of July week-end! Perhaps we can't go to dinners and bridge parties, but they could."

popular "first lady" the land ever had. She was popularly supposed to be vain, extravagant, a shrewish social climber; she had three half-brothers in the Confederate army, and at one time she was even accused of being a Confederate spy. That she had a violent temper and frequently unloaded it on Lincoln in public was common knowledge.

The first really sympathetic and careful study of this unhappy woman is provided now by Carl L. Sandburg, in "Mary Lincoln: Wife and Widow," and in this book Mr. Sandburg sets forth bluntly the fact that Mrs. Lincoln suffered from a progressive disease of the brain which finally robbed her of her reason.

Mr. Sandburg cites a doctor's post-mortem examination to support this statement. He reminds us that Mrs. Lincoln, 10 years after the war, was confined for a year in an asylum, that she suffered delusions of persecution, and that she bewailed her poverty in spite of the fact that President Lincoln left her an estate of more than $100,000.

But his study is a sympathetic one. By revealing the woman's handicap he makes possible a kinder and juster appreciation of her than has yet been given.

Its important collection of documents was edited by Paul Angle.

"But if they did stay, Binks, what could we possibly do?"

She breathed more easily. At least he was taking her seriously—considering this desperate suggestion.

"Talk to each one separately and notice how they answer, as well as what they say. They'll talk about the accident perfectly naturally with us. We can ask leading questions without seeming to and then meet and analyze what we've found out and go back and talk with them more. Oh, Tom, don't you see it's the only way?"

He nodded slowly.

"I see that, all right. It's a crazy stunt—but it's that or nothing."

She went on eagerly. "Then let's go right away, Tom, and find them. I'm ready—"

"Now wait, Binks. Don't be in too much of a hurry."

ALTHOUGH she knew of old that his common sense decisions were slower but also more thorough than her quicker impulses, his caution infuriated her, so highly was she keyed for action.

"Tom! It's 11 o'clock. In an hour—"

"In an hour they'll be gone for good, especially if we fumble it. I want to think how to go about this. First we must persuade them to stay, then get together for our first conference and decide on the story of what happened to you—"

"That's easy," she interrupted. "I fainted—"

"Not so easy as that. Remember, one of them knows."

"Yes." Their eyes met.

"Binks," said Tom quietly, "I shouldn't consider this for one moment."

"But you've agreed to it!"

"Yes. But I'm going to make one condition."

"What's that?"

"The agreement is dissolved at any moment if I think I'm justified. Think, dearest," as she began to protest, "you haven't really taken in yet what it means. It means—"

(as he spoke his words seemed to reach her through some shell that had not been penetrated before) "It means that here, right in our house, there is a killer—a man without mercy and, possibly, insane. A homicidal maniac! And that sort is insane only until he kills. Then he's as cool and clever and as sane, or more so, than most of us. One of those four men—Pratt, Shagnessy, Stantlander, DeVos—is certainly a murderer and may be a homicidal maniac. Do you take it in now?"

"Yes," she answered in a whisper.

"And you don't want to call the police and have them all questioned?"

"No." Again the faintest breath of sound. Then, more strongly, as he paused, perplexed, "It wouldn't do any good, Tom. That—that sort of man would get away. We mustn't alarm him—"

"But you know we are doing a risky—a crazy—thing. That either of us—or I—may be over his mouth. I can't hear you say that, Tom! I know—I realize—now. But we must—wait! Today's Saturday. We'll find some way to keep them until Monday morning. That, you see, will give us the rest of today and all tomorrow—Sunday. Everything we fit—or guess or even imagine we'll report to each other. We'll get something, I know that, Tom. But I promise this. If by, say, after dinner tomorrow night, we haven't a thing, not a ghost of an idea, or anything stronger, you can do whatever you want—call up Tim Hanahan or go get him or—"

"Him!" Tom was contemptuous of the local policeman's aid. "Binks, to capture a man like this you'll need a squad—and then watch every move you make!"

"That's for you to take care of. Whom to call and how to do it. Whether we locate him or whether we give it up and call for help, that's your job, Tom—to bring it off. My job's to keep them here and happy and unsuspecting."

"Agreed!"

THEY shook hands on it solemnly. And there came a tap at the door.

Rosie stood on the threshold and her eyes were troubled.

"Please sir," she said, "it's Tim Hanahan. He's very urgent, sir. He says he must see you at once, sir—and Madame, too, if she's able—which I told him she was not."

Rosie spoke with a sudden access of asperity that suggested her tone to the young village policeman who had the misfortune—so far as authority in that household went—to have married Rosie's sister Tessie, her predecessor in the Averill service.

There was the conscious guilt in the glances the two conspirators exchanged, but Linda quickly covered her surprise.

"Certainly I'm able, Rosie—though thank you for trying to save me the bother. Will Tim come up here?"

Again Rosie tossed her head, but she was reluctantly compelled to pass on the commands of the law.

"He'll not, ma'am. He says, will the master be so good as to step downstairs at once, and if you cannot come too, then he will come up later. And already he has made so free as to use the telephone without asking your permission and has called Dr. Parsons. I heard him give the number and well I know it myself."

Linda rallied first.

"Tell Tim we'll be right down, Rosie," she said almost sharply. "Loth of us."

And as the girl hesitated she added, "I'm feeling quite myself now, thank you, Rosie. And we won't keep him waiting. The dismissal was definite and the girl moved off slowly. She was not going to hurry for brother-in-law Tim Hanahan."

LINDA grasped Tom's arm as much for physical support as to whisper anxiously to him, "Tom—do they know?"

"It looks queer, Binks. Phoning for Parsons—"

"Was Tim here—before?"

"No. Parsons reported the accident. He tried the police station when he was hunting for Boyle, but he took it for granted it was an accident and of course so did Tim."

"Especially in our house."

"Yes. Tim's entirely too much one of the family—even if it's only by adoption—to suspect us of anything so ungentle as murder."

"But something has happened!"

"Yes—something—"

"Well, come on, Tom. We won't find out this way."

"Be careful what you say, Binks. Let him do the talking."

She flashed him a glance of mingled scorn and agreement and together they went down the short hall, down the graceful winding stairs and into the central living room, still redolent of flowers and open to every passing whisper of air that might stir on that hot July day. Here, hat in hand, obviously embarrassed, perspiring apologetically in his official uniform, stood honest Tim Hanahan, dreading as much as they the approaching interview in which he must assume the position of authority.

"They had hardly greeted him when there was a furious spurt of gravel from the roadway and the doctor's little roadster swung dangerously around the curving drive and came to a violent stop before their open door. From the roadster, as though catapulted by the arrested momentum of the car, shot the doctor himself, as red-faced as Tim and far more agitated.

"What's this—what's all this nonsense?" he burst out before he was fairly in the door.

New Ocean Liner Ready for Service

Above—New Grace Line "Santa Rosa." At left, Main Dining Room. At right—Open-air Swimming Pool. Inset, Captain Curt Zastrow.

THE last finishing touches have been given to the "Santa Rosa" and she now takes her place in the Grace Line fleet. Under the command of Captain Curt Zastrow this first of the four new $5,000,000 sister ships built for the Grace Line, sets out—on November 26—for Havana, Panama, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico, California, Victoria, B. C., and Seattle, Washington.

The Santa Rosa—one of the first ships to be furnished throughout by a woman interior decorator—is one of the most homelike liners that ever put out to sea. Living Room and Library are done in 18th Century English style developed in cool materials and cool colors. The chief decorative feature of the Main Dining Room is a mural, 15 ft. high and 8 ft. wide, painted by the noted marine artist, Charles R. Patterson.

The Staterooms—all outside rooms with private bath—are dressed in summery chintzes. The casino-like Club, a rendezvous for dancing and refreshment, is gay with colorful garden furniture and panels depicting tropical birds and foliage. Even the tiled Swimming Pool—the largest open-air pool on any American ship—is all dressed up with umbrella-topped tables and bright-colored beach chairs.

BROOKVILLE

Brookville — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shriner, Rock Creek township. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Miller and Miss Olive Bowers were guests at dinner Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lutz at Lanark.

John Senn, local garageman, attended a meeting and banquet on Friday given by the Skelley Oil Company at LaSalle.

Nathaniel Kluck of Lena township, enjoyed a visit with friends in the village on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bowman, of German Valley, spent Wednesday evening with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bowman.

A surprise feature that was injected into the program of the Parent Teachers' meeting recently held at the schoolhouse and which was greatly enjoyed, was a little program in itself, given by the Brookville school.

The Students Club, which was recently organized with Reynolds Shafer president, Harold Hess, vice president and Mary Hess, secretary. After the business meeting of the club, Verna Homade, chairman of the program committee, announced three numbers, a piano duet by herself and Betty Bowers, a school newspaper read by Harold Hess and a vocal duet by Betty Bowers and Mary Hess. The first twenty minutes of each monthly Parent-Teachers meeting will be given to this club, the object of which is to give the juniors practical training to properly conduct business meetings and to arrange and present their own little programs. This is the second student's club organized in rural schools in Ogle County, the first one at the Brick school, near Polo.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Underkaffer have the sympathy of the entire community in the recent passing of their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Missman, near Dixon. Mr. and Mrs. Underkaffer have laid away three of their four daughters in just a few years.

The Misses Dorothy Bowers, Evelyn Paul, Esther Garman and Irene Brooks were among a group of Ogle County teachers to visit Superior Schools in the county on Friday under the direction of Supt. of Schools, George F. Cann.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wehmer and their grandson Robert Shafer left on Friday for Zealring, Iowa, having been called by the serious illness of the latter's brother, Chas. Hanley.

Hunters from Freeport, Rockford and Chicago are quite numerous in this locality since the opening of the hunting season. Hunters should use extra precaution where farmers are kind enough to permit them to hunt in their fields, where stock are roaming, as instances have occurred in this vicinity when cattle have been killed by some careless hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Klock, son Leonard and daughter, Ruth, residing near the Good school, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Hauritz were entertained at dinner Sunday, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Finney at Savanna.

LeRoy Rahn and Melvin Paul motored to Chicago on business Monday.

Mrs. J. Falvey left early Monday morning by motor for her home in New York City. Mrs. Falvey, who had spent the past several weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dreibels, expected to make the entire journey alone.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Shipman and son Roscoe, Lincoln township, entertained at a six o'clock dinner Monday evening, their guests including Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Widmer and son Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Garman, Mrs. Minerva Irven, and the Misses Esther Garman and Vivian Irven.

Rev. Carl Kammeyer, pastor of St. Marks' Lutheran Church at Polo, conducted a very impressive baptismal service at the home of Charles Garman residing in the vicinity of Chambers Grove.

WORSHIPPED MOUNTAINS Washington—Evidence of a race of mountain-worshipping Indians is said to have been found by Dr. Walter Hough, head curator of anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution. The lost race was found in Arizona, in the northeastern part of the state. They lived in the shadow of four mountain peaks, one at each point of the compass.

Banks Put Money to Work . . . Well informed depositors know that a bank does not hold their money in its vaults and pay back the same dollars they deposited. No bank could do this and be of any real use to its community. Dollars are not put in the bank to loaf or sleep, but to work. When they finish one job the bank sends them out on another.

The bank lends money to manufacturers for raw materials; to merchants to buy goods; to farmers to carry crops to market; to wage-earners to build homes, and so on.

So when you deposit money in the bank you do not store it selfishly away. You add it temporarily to the active working fund used to make business better, and living conditions happier and more prosperous for everyone in your community.

BIGGEST GAMES OF TODAY BEING PLAYED IN EAST

Army-Notre Dame, Pitt-Stanford Contests Hold Interest

ARMY-NOTRE DAME
New York, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Army and Notre Dame, matching football strategy and power for the 19th time in the Yankee stadium today, set one seasonal precedent before a single shot was fired.

So intense was the demand for tickets, even at $6.00 and $4.40, that New York's speculators held the whiphand over Mr. John H. Fan for the first time this season. It was a sell-out, with prospects of a crowd of 80,000 paying an aggregate of between $325,000 and $350,000 at the gate.

Hoping to recoup some of the losses they've suffered in a year when economic conditions have struck so sharply at football attendance, ticket gamblers boosted prices for today's spectacle nearly 100 per cent.

Intense Interest
The dramatic outcome of previous Notre Dame-Army games, the scenery furnished by West Point's corps of cadets, the certainty of an exceptional brand of football, all these contrived to stir up tremendous interest in the battle.

Army, as fast and powerful on the offense as it has been adamant on defense, ruled a 7 to 5 favorite over the Ramblers although most contests between these rivals have been decided on a single "break." Each suffered a defeat at the hands of Pitt's Panthers, but the experts liked the way Army rebounded from that one reverse.

Experts seeking All-America material fixed their gaze on Captain Milt Summerfelt, Army's great guard, and Felix (Pick) Vidal, the fleet little quarterback whose pass-catching and running have been sensational features of Army's smashing campaign. Notre Dame offered, in rebuttal, Kurth and Melnikovich among others.

Of the 18 games the teams have played since 1913, Notre Dame has won 12 and Army five with one tie.

PITT-STANFORD

Pittsburgh, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Their eyes on the far western coast and the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, the Pitt Panthers battled Stanford's Indians in stinging weather as snow threatened today.

Hopeful of gaining an invitation to participate in the New Year's Tournament of Roses classic, Coach Jock Sutherland sent his charges into the fray intent on outwitting and outmaneuvering his former mentor and predecessor, Glenn S. (Pop) Warner guide of the western eleven.

The weather furnished the only outstanding advantage as the warriors took the field, the Panther to romp in elements which had faced him before this season, the Indian in climates opposite to that surrounding his California wigwag.

Pitt, with no losses and two ties, held the more impressive record for the season, especially considering its wins over Army and Notre Dame.

The game was scheduled for 1 o'clock (CST).

The probable lineups:

Stanford	Pos.	Pitt
Colvin	le	Dailey
Crey	lt	Rocker
Corbus	lg	Hartwig
Bates	rg	Torney
Kite	rt	Onder
La Borde	rt	Walton
Doub	re	Skladany
Campbell	qb	Hogan
Hillman	hbk	Heller
	rbb	Sebastian
	fb	Metecic
		Weinstock

Referee—E. C. Taggart. Rochester umpires—T. J. Thorpes, Columbia; lineman—Dr. P. A. Lambert, Ohio State; field judge—Mike Thompson, St. Mary's.

New York, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The hardest of football's stalwarts still "carrying on" after most of their brethren had quit for the season, answered the bugle call to action today.

Most of the late season firing was concentrated in two centers—New York and Pittsburgh—but with additional action slated in the south and southwest.

At New York, Army and Notre Dame renewed a bitter rivalry for the 19th time with prospects of a capacity crowd of 80,000 persons packing the Yankee Stadium despite threat of adverse weather condition.

Pupil and master matched wits at Pittsburgh where Glenn Scobey (Pop) Warner's Stanford Indians ran into the mighty Panthers of Pitt, coached by one of Warner's most successful followers, Jock Sutherland.

These Top Program
Though these two battles topped the program beyond dispute there were a number of other important struggles notably the Texas Christian-Southern Methodist, Georgia-Georgia Tech, Tulane-Louisiana State and Boston College-Holy Cross contests.

Oddly enough both Army and Pitt were favored over their invading rivals, Army, with "Pick" Vidal and Milt Summerfelt, the spark-plugs of backfield and line respectively, has generated tremendous power and speed since that early October day when the Cadets were beaten by Pittsburgh, 18-13. Notre Dame, also conquered by Pitt, 12-0, has not been so impressive although the Ramblers have beaten Kansas, Northwestern and Navy since the Pitt debacle.

All-American Team Is Picked By New York Sun

New York, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The New York Sun names two players from Purdue and from the Army on its All-America eleven, announced today.

Noting a surprising number of star backfield men in the south the Sun rates John Cain of Alabama as the best and also names Warren Heller of Pitt as "the most valuable player to his team."

The first and second team selections follows:

First Team
King, Army ..... LE
Brown, So. Calif. .... LT
Corbus, Stanford ..... LG
Ely, Nebraska ..... C
Sommerfelt, Army ..... RG
Kurth, Notre Dame ..... RT
Moss, Purdue ..... RE
Newman, Michigan ..... QB
Heller, Pitt ..... LHB
Horstman, Purdue ..... RHB
Cain, Alabama ..... FB

Second Team
Rayburn, Tennessee ..... LE
Wilbur, Yale ..... LT
Gallus, Ohio State ..... LG
Gracey, Vanderbilt ..... C
Smith, Colgate ..... RG
Smith, So. Calif. .... RT
Petoskey, Michigan ..... RE
Montgomery, Columbia ..... QB
Hitchcock, Alabama Poly. .... LHB
Sander, Washington State ..... RHB
Viviano, Cornell ..... FB

participate in the annual Rose Bowl game, knew it must whip Stanford by a comfortable margin if the Panthers are to receive the call over such rival contenders as Colgate and Michigan. Stanford has had an unsuccessful season but Warner-coached teams, in the past, always have been tremendously formidable in intersectional engagements, particularly in the east. Pitt entered the game with an unbeaten record although they were held to ties by Ohio State and Nebraska.

In Southwest
Texas Christian, pace setter in the Southwest Conference, was a heavy favorite to whip Southern Methodist's oft-beaten eleven and clinch the title. Rice and Baylor were paired in the conference's other closing game.

Louisiana State hoped to spill Tulane and wind up its Southern Conference schedule undefeated although the title probably will be awarded by general agreement to Auburn should the latter defeat South Carolina next week. The Georgia-Georgia Tech contest brought together traditional rivals Duke and Washington & Lee completed the Southern Conference schedule.

Holy Cross hoped to turn back Boston College in one of the east's ancient rivalries and West Virginia looked a trifle stronger than Washington & Jefferson.

LEE CENTER H. H. TEAM FACES BUSY SCHEDULE

Boys Have Won Five Of Their First Six Winter Games

The Lee Center high school basketball team has a very busy season ahead until early spring. The schedule has three open dates for which Coach G. Price Jones is anxious to secure games. Dec 2 and Dec. 22 are open dates next month with Jan. 20 being unfilled for the first month of the new year. The revised schedule of the Lee Center high school cage squad is as follows:

Oct. 21—Lee Center, 13; Ashton, 19.
Oct. 28—Lee Center, 54; Franklin Grove, 12.
Nov. 11—Lee Center, 35; West Brooklyn, 10.
Nov. 12—Lee Center, 41; Kings, 13.
Nov. 16—Lee Center, 35; Compton, 11.
Nov. 22—Lee Center, 55; West Brooklyn, 6.
Dec. 2—Open date.
Dec. 15—Green River Valley tournament at Paw Paw.
Dec. 22—Open date.
Jan. 6—Franklin Grove at Lee Center.
Jan. 13—Lee Center at Steward.
Jan. 20—Open date.
Jan. 27-28—Meridian conference tournament at Kings.
Feb. 3—Lee Center at Compton.
Feb. 10—Steward at Lee Center.
Feb. 17—Lee Center at Kings.
Feb. 24—Ashton at Lee Center.
March 3—Lee Center at Amboy.
March 9-11—District tournament.

Mike Gibbons Is Pleased With Son

St. Paul, Nov. 26.—(AP)—If young Jack Gibbons follows his dad's advice he won't fight to please the gallery.

"I never want him to please those guys in the gallery. I never did," said Mike the phantom, famous for his boxing skill when he met the best in his class in his prime.

His dad was pleased, he said, with the 20-year-old youngster's showing in winning his first professional fight as a middleweight in four rounds last night against Al Paul, St. Paul.

His comment on the gallery was inspired after the bout during which the fans upstairs booed the fighters, apparently for Young Gibbons' failure to put Paul away after almost knocking him out with a right uppercut in the third round.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Sports writers have been given rather the worst of it recently by two former football stars—Barry Wood of Harvard and Galt Shaver of the University of Southern California—who have taken pen in hand to point out injustices wrecked upon college players by the reporters.

Both players paint the sports writer as a person between the devil and the deep blue sea.

ON THE SPOT—

Wood, in his book "What Price Football," pictures the sports reporter catering to the public taste, a taste developed largely by the dear old school's enterprising athletics association. He writes of the player's reaction to sports page feature stories as either disgust or swell-headedness.

And Shaver in a story called "Football Ballyhoo" in a recent issue of Collier's, blames the sports writer for both criticizing and praising players. Shaver depicts your football warrior as "just a kid trying to get along with as few mistakes as possible" and urges that "if he loses, don't take it too seriously."

On the other hand, Shaver depicts adulation which easily may become an unhappy handicap to the player "when he is graduated and has to buck the more important game."

TAKE YOUR CHOICE!

And Wood says that "since football, by its very nature, can be regarded by the players, only as a team game, the ballyhoo article featuring one star becomes to them a mere joke. Seldom does a player take such an article seriously."

The life of a sports writer really is an awful life to live, girls! It's just a fate worse than death, that's what it is.

If sports writers demand a guy's head—as Shaver asserts the newspapers demanded Riegels' head for running the wrong way in the California-Georgia Tech game of 1929—they are cruel to "just a kid who is trying to get along with as few mistakes as possible." If they praise a guy for excellent playing, they are making a fat-headed snob out of the lad.

THEY JUST DON'T LIKE US—
Not only that, but it seems we are inaccurate, folks so you mustn't believe all you read in the papers. Wood writes that "most college players resent the numerous inaccurate statements made by sports writers, because of the credulity of thousands of newspaper readers, become actual facts to the general public."

Ten Years Ago Today—It was announced that Earle Neale would leave W. & J. as football coach. A young fellow named Knute Rockne, coach of Notre Dame, was mentioned as his successor.

Five Years Ago Today—Captain Harry Wilson led Army to a 14-9 win over the Navy. Notre Dame had a close call in edging out a 7-6 win over Southern California before 114,000 persons at Soldier's Field, Chicago. The crowd was one of the largest ever to see a football game.

One Year Ago Today—A crowd of 70,000 saw Cornell win a close game over Penn—7-0. New York University scored a new win over its rival from Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech, 7-6.

Three Years Ago Today—Barney Ross, Chicago, outpointed Johnny Farr, Cleveland (10); Sammy Slaughter, Terre Haute, Ind., outpointed Oak Till, Buffalo, N. Y., (10).

Pittsburgh—Tony Herrera, El Paso, Tex., outpointed Johnny Hayes, Philadelphia (10); Joe Marcus, Bradock, Pa., outpointed Jackie Willis, Philadelphia (8).

WORLEY ROLLED NEW HIGH MARK ON LOCAL ALLEY

He Got Nine Straight To Count Fine Total Of 276 Pins

A little dispute was settled Sunday afternoon between two local four man teams who really decided to find out who was the best in a three game series. The Nixon Recreations lost this dispute and were humiliated to the extent of 167 pins.

Features of this match were a string of nine consecutive strikes the first nine frames by Ed Worley, who threatened a possible perfect score his first game, failing to hit the pocket with his tenth ball, but finishing with a new high mark for this season, rolling a big count of 276.

Ed Detweiler proved himself an able veteran by placing counts of 246, 193, 215 for a big series of 654 which was high for the afternoon. Team totals were as follows: Nixon Recreations, 2114; Dixon Aces, 2281.

Mixed Doubles Planned
A double match of mixed doubles will be rolled between Sterling and Dixon ladies and men in the near future. The Dixon ladies and men pairing off in teams of two and rolling Sterling likewise, in a three game series.

Doubles Match
Two Sterling Stars have issued a challenge for a twenty game doubles match. Opponents and date of the match will be published later. The match will be bowled in blocks of ten games each.

Bowling at High Speed
Out in the western sector, Dutch Lambador, Kansas City bowling enthusiast and executive of a big bowling alley establishment there, has been conducting some tests to determine the average speed of a bowling ball, delivered by the average bowler. His test revealed the fact that the sixteen pound sphere makes the journey from foul line to head pin at a rate of speed slightly in excess of sixty miles per hour.

Little wonder that those ten three-pound pins sometimes perform some peculiar antics before tumbling into the pits.

SCORES—

Three Investigate Ohio Ring Program
Piqua, O., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Two official investigations were planned today of the participation of three "ringers" in a boxing program Wednesday night.

It had been announced that Mickey Breen of Louisville, Joe Paglina of Piqua, and Howard Jones of Huntington, W. Va., would appear in bouts on the program, but the promoter, C. Gunther, said none of this trio appeared.

First of these investigations was promised by K. E. Shofstall, chairman of the Piqua Boxing Commission. Another investigation was ordered by Frazier Dunlap, chairman of the Kentucky State Boxing Commission, and a third was predicted by A. J. Bechtold, Secretary of the Cincinnati Boxing Commission.

Loyola University Host To Harriers
Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Loyola University was host to seven Illinois colleges and universities today in its second annual cross-country run.

Illinois State Normal, winner of the race last year, was the favorite. Other institutions represented were the University of Chicago, Wheaton, Elmhurst, Monmouth, De Paul and Loyola. The individual contest over the three and one-half mile course, was expected to be between Lyle Hutton of Normal, 1931 winner, and Tom O'Neil of Loyola.

Twelve Clever Boxers Battle Monday Night
Dixon Fans Expecting Good Entertainment at Athletic Club

Six Dixon amateurs embark Monday evening against an all-star aggregation, hailing from Amboy and Chillicothe. The show will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock in the Athletic Club arena on Ottawa Avenue. The last entertainment by the Club was two weeks ago. Monday's lineup marks the third of a winter series of boxing to be offered to fans in this section. Kid McReynolds, fighting at 147 pounds, will appear in the feature bout vs. Herman Moll of Chillicothe. McReynolds' last Dixon fight was in the Rock River Valley tournament when he lost that heart-breaker to Johnny Becker, in the championship bout. Since then the Dixon brawler has whipped Keith Graves to cop the Elks' award in Peoria. McReynolds is one of the fastest amateurs in the state and has won a great following of fans. While in high school this individual won all-state honors on the 1931 selections for his gridiron prowess. In Moll a worthy opponent has been picked. Moll is a rough and tumble boy who has a blemish on his record, the result of a trimming from this same McReynolds. In winning the last Streater Golden Gloves honors Moll demonstrated his improved ability and will give McReynolds all he can handle. This is one of those much advertised "grudge" affairs.

Delbert Lipton, winner over Clyde Deschaine for the 120-lb. title in the R. R. tourney, fights George Carlson. Carlson holds a win over Lipton, accomplished during the summer in one of the Maple's shows. In this scrap two of the shiftest and hard-hitting boys will mix it. At 140 pounds, Clark Rousch and his Chillicothe opposition, Jim Scott will fight. Rousch is an up and coming simon pure, whose game is vastly changing. Rousch, who recently formed a habit of registering knockouts, gained quite a reputation as a result and is out to continue it. Jim Scott is no pushover, however, as the Chillicothean has an impressive record downstate.

"Killer" Hess of Waukegan will manipulate his 175 pounds again for fans. Hess has plenty of stamina and can dish it out, but in Calvin Ramsey, Chillicothe, he enters against one of the leading light heavies in state amateur circles. Hess' last two appearances in Dixon leave his average at 50-50. He lost his bout in the Valley tournament but won his most recent scrap. A real pair of 165 pounders in the persons of Bill Peterson of Dixon and Kenny Chance of Chillicothe have been matched. Peterson is fast rounding into form and will give a good account of himself. This Peterson-Chance conflict will be something to watch. To open the six-bout card Glen Rutherford, Dixon, and Earl Kellen of Amboy meet at 136 pounds. This will be Rutherford's second amateur start, he lost his first in the last A. C. show. Kellen is also a newcomer, but nevertheless when these two boys take their bow at 8:30 a lot of excitement will be uncoiled.

The above card contains some of the leaders in boxing circles in this section. Evenly matched—the boys will undoubtedly attract a large delegation.

Worley Rolled New High Mark On Local Alley

He Got Nine Straight To Count Fine Total Of 276 Pins

A little dispute was settled Sunday afternoon between two local four man teams who really decided to find out who was the best in a three game series. The Nixon Recreations lost this dispute and were humiliated to the extent of 167 pins.

Features of this match were a string of nine consecutive strikes the first nine frames by Ed Worley, who threatened a possible perfect score his first game, failing to hit the pocket with his tenth ball, but finishing with a new high mark for this season, rolling a big count of 276.

Ed Detweiler proved himself an able veteran by placing counts of 246, 193, 215 for a big series of 654 which was high for the afternoon. Team totals were as follows: Nixon Recreations, 2114; Dixon Aces, 2281.

Mixed Doubles Planned
A double match of mixed doubles will be rolled between Sterling and Dixon ladies and men in the near future. The Dixon ladies and men pairing off in teams of two and rolling Sterling likewise, in a three game series.

Doubles Match
Two Sterling Stars have issued a challenge for a twenty game doubles match. Opponents and date of the match will be published later. The match will be bowled in blocks of ten games each.

Bowling at High Speed
Out in the western sector, Dutch Lambador, Kansas City bowling enthusiast and executive of a big bowling alley establishment there, has been conducting some tests to determine the average speed of a bowling ball, delivered by the average bowler. His test revealed the fact that the sixteen pound sphere makes the journey from foul line to head pin at a rate of speed slightly in excess of sixty miles per hour.

Little wonder that those ten three-pound pins sometimes perform some peculiar antics before tumbling into the pits.

Three Investigate Ohio Ring Program
Piqua, O., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Two official investigations were planned today of the participation of three "ringers" in a boxing program Wednesday night.

It had been announced that Mickey Breen of Louisville, Joe Paglina of Piqua, and Howard Jones of Huntington, W. Va., would appear in bouts on the program, but the promoter, C. Gunther, said none of this trio appeared.

First of these investigations was promised by K. E. Shofstall, chairman of the Piqua Boxing Commission. Another investigation was ordered by Frazier Dunlap, chairman of the Kentucky State Boxing Commission, and a third was predicted by A. J. Bechtold, Secretary of the Cincinnati Boxing Commission.

Loyola University Host To Harriers
Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Loyola University was host to seven Illinois colleges and universities today in its second annual cross-country run.

Illinois State Normal, winner of the race last year, was the favorite. Other institutions represented were the University of Chicago, Wheaton, Elmhurst, Monmouth, De Paul and Loyola. The individual contest over the three and one-half mile course, was expected to be between Lyle Hutton of Normal, 1931 winner, and Tom O'Neil of Loyola.

Dixon Fans Expecting Good Entertainment at Athletic Club

Six Dixon amateurs embark Monday evening against an all-star aggregation, hailing from Amboy and Chillicothe. The show will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock in the Athletic Club arena on Ottawa Avenue. The last entertainment by the Club was two weeks ago. Monday's lineup marks the third of a winter series of boxing to be offered to fans in this section. Kid McReynolds, fighting at 147 pounds, will appear in the feature bout vs. Herman Moll of Chillicothe. McReynolds' last Dixon fight was in the Rock River Valley tournament when he lost that heart-breaker to Johnny Becker, in the championship bout. Since then the Dixon brawler has whipped Keith Graves to cop the Elks' award in Peoria. McReynolds is one of the fastest amateurs in the state and has won a great following of fans. While in high school this individual won all-state honors on the 1931 selections for his gridiron prowess. In Moll a worthy opponent has been picked. Moll is a rough and tumble boy who has a blemish on his record, the result of a trimming from this same McReynolds. In winning the last Streater Golden Gloves honors Moll demonstrated his improved ability and will give McReynolds all he can handle. This is one of those much advertised "grudge" affairs.

Delbert Lipton, winner over Clyde Deschaine for the 120-lb. title in the R. R. tourney, fights George Carlson. Carlson holds a win over Lipton, accomplished during the summer in one of the Maple's shows. In this scrap two of the shiftest and hard-hitting boys will mix it. At 140 pounds, Clark Rousch and his Chillicothe opposition, Jim Scott will fight. Rousch is an up and coming simon pure, whose game is vastly changing. Rousch, who recently formed a habit of registering knockouts, gained quite a reputation as a result and is out to continue it. Jim Scott is no pushover, however, as the Chillicothean has an impressive record downstate.

"Killer" Hess of Waukegan will manipulate his 175 pounds again for fans. ## ANNUAL HOLIDAY DINNER OF D. B. C. HELD WEDNESDAY

Seventy Students And Guests Enjoyed Annual Affair

The 26th annual Thanksgiving dinner of Dixon Business College was served by the Hotel Dixon on Tuesday evening.

Plates were laid for 70 students and guests. After the 3-course dinner was served, Toastmaster Alton Rhoads of Oregon introduced each member of the school chosen for his or her respective part.

Lavin Peterson as song leader pleased his audience through his tactful direction. Ethlyn Schrock, Helen Blocher, Lois Fellows, Paul Peterson, Albert Petit and Ernest Norden were the speakers representing the different parts apropos the event.

The Ortgiesen sisters were appreciated and elicited generous applause for the work in song. Elmie Tate at piano.

Lowell Tractnow and Clark Phillips moved (?) their audience by a vocal duet.

As the program was concluded the invitation was extended to assemble at the school rooms where arrangements had been made for a happy time with cards and dancing.

Frederick Glessner of Eldena will resume his work in school December 1.

Kenneth Hood of Franklin Grove has enrolled for a combined business course.

Miss Audrey Cluck of the state hospital has been absent a few days due to change in hours of service.

David Sennett, Chadwick, is spending the week-end at home.

Lee Gentry, Oregon, was our guest this week. Mr. Gentry is a friend of Alton Rhoads, Oregon.

Clair Hood, office man of the Dixon Oats Products Co. was a caller Tuesday.

Miss Francis Rossiter of Freeport was among guests at school this week.

Miss Helen Roberts is visiting in Freeport this week.

New classes are being organized for December first in all branches of the work.

SCRATCH PADS FOR SALE

At The B. F. Shaw Pk. Co. 27713

For your smile, I sadly yearn.

The daffodils came in the early Spring.
And the violets spoke to me of love
"Where is my little friend of yesterday?"
My heart is sad, I send a prayer above.

I picture a cross of For-get-me-nots.
Each small blossom, symbols of tears and smiles.
Their color so blue, reminds me your heart was true.
Forget-me-not—we'll meet after a while.

I sit alone in the gloaming,
In the November twilight glow.
I see you now, as I always will,
Just a short while ago.

I picture you a baby sent from Heaven,
Just to be with us for a while.
We loved each cunning little deed,
Each and every smile.

Then I see you in your dress of blue,
Just six years old, starting off to school.
You kissed by goodbye and you waved your hand.
Our lives are His, a book of rules. Tate at piano.

Again I see you, like some exquisite Rose,
Life's Rose, you were to me.
We live by Him in Faith above,
He wills and rules, the rest is mystery.

The autumn leaves were beautiful,
With their foliage of red and gold.
How like our lives are the falling leaves.
One by one, He gathers us in His Fold.

Could I forget those eyes of brown,
And your smile of love, my dear?
It's a memory sent from Heaven
To brighten the sun-set of my years.

The Master called His Angel of Death,
"Go down to the earth below,
Bring the little flower up to Heaven,
That the angels her love may know."

It's "Au-Revoir" but not goodbye
In your robe of spotless white.
On that Beautiful Isle of Somewhere,
Your soul has taken flight.

In beautiful Oakwood, we placed you,
Back to Mother Earth to keep.
Rest, Dear One, while we miss you,
Rest on and on, in your last sleep.

Love—Mother
In memory of our daughter Mrs. Elzora Gehant-Nixon, who passed away November 27th, 1931.
—Mrs. Adolph Gehant.

"SHINE"

(Alexander "Shine" Knick, of the Dixon Floral Company)

While some folks seem to fret and pine,
I'm thinking of a fellow, fine.
He makes the most of every hour,
By nursing bulb, and seed, and flower.

He calls their names, delights to show
The care to give for them to grow.
They are to him as children, dear—
You treat them right; they bring you cheer.

A man who loves with flowers to toy,
Must be a man to scatter joy.
He cannot be a grouchy grunt,
Who likes to do the sordid stunt.

You see this fellow standing there,
As perfume permeates the air,
Amid the beauty of his flowers—
See how majestically he towers.

His eyes are glowing with the grace
You'll find upon his glowing face:
And, when he greets you, he will say:
"Hello, there. How are you today?"

He's always at your beck and call;
No task too large; no task too small.
Some fellows every labor shirk,
But how he likes to do your work.

For weddings or a family guest,
He fills your order with his best;
And when it's Death that brings the grief,
The deep respects go with a wreath.

They call him "Shine," I know not why,
Unless it is his hair on high.
Which is as black as black as jet—
So shiny that one can't forget.

Enough to say of him this day:
With all the folks he has his way,
And courtesy and kindness meet
Within the aisles of his retreat.

Week End MURDER

GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH
©1932 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

AMOS PEABODY, elderly cousin of LINDA AVERILL, falls to his death from the second story balcony of the Averill's Long Island home. Linda reaches him just before he dies, in time to hear his gasp. "He pushed me!"

Linda, realizing her cousin had tried to tell her he was murdered, rushes upstairs to the balcony. Someone steps behind her, tries to strangle her and she falls in a faint. Her husband, TOM, sees her fall and rushes to her. There are four guests in the house and they all appear. The guests are MR. STANTON, business associate of Tom's; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian; MARVIN PRATT, former agent of Linda's; and LIAH SHAGHNESSY, Irish widow. Each of them has quarreled with Cousin Amos.

DR. PARSONS takes charge. It is assumed Cousin Amos' death was accidental and that Linda fainted from shock. When she is finally able to tell Tom what happened she persuades him that they must keep the four guests with them until they discover who is the murderer. There is no evidence on which to arrest anyone but Tom and Linda both feel that the four are guilty. Suspicion points to Pratt because he was first to reach Linda after she fell and to Shagnessy because Tom met him on the grounds a few moments later. TIM HANAHAN of the local police force arrives.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

DR. PARSONS was angry. "It's that old fool Boyle trying to make trouble!" he exclaimed.

"What does he mean by such idiotic behavior? Not your fault, Tim, of course."

"Let's all sit down," said Linda abruptly. This mystery seemed more than she could bear. The doctor and Tom both looked toward her anxiously but she ignored the searching glances and spoke briskly and cheerfully to Tim.

"What's the matter, Tim? And what about Dr. Boyle?"

Gratefully Officer Hanahan addressed himself to her.

"He himself phoned, ma'am," he said, "not 20 minutes ago. Down off Orient Point he's been, with some friends on a fishing trip. They went yesterday morning and were to come back the Monday. Happened he bethought himself to till phone his house, and Mrs. Boyle told him Dr. Parsons here was calling him up to report an accident. So thin he tillphoned the station himself and I tell him—begin yer pardon, ma'am—about the poor old felly fallin' often the little balcony-like. At once he flies into a latherin' rage—"

"Half shot as usual, I suppose," interjected Dr. Parsons.

From Tim's sheepish glance and quickly repressed grin they knew that the little doctor had bit the mark.

"Ah, well, sir—it's a holiday he's on, well, this—timper—"

"Yes, we know Boyle's timper—er temper. But that's no excuse for holding us all up like this," fumed the irate doctor.

"Hold us all?" Tom caught at the words.

"That's it, sir. 'Tis—'tis against the law you know to move the body—"

Forced to voice the truth and so place the blame, Tim scratched his head and glanced sideways at the tuning doctor. He was thinking perhaps of the many times that irascible, kindly little man had lectured him for the various sins of growing boyhood. The tables now were turned indeed!

"Yes—yes, of course, I authorized that. Perfect poppycock to say I couldn't! Does Boyle suppose that I'm going to leave a corpse out there for hours in the hot sun—"

"Easy, easy!" said Tom anxiously, but Parsons was beyond caring for the layman's shocked reaction to the ordinary difficulties of his profession.

"While he swigs whisky off in the sound somewhere and hangs a line overboard pretending to jig for bluefish? Too bad he hasn't fallen overboard long ago, except it'd be a raw deal for the fish to be poisoned that way."

Tim reverted with what could hardly be called tact to the moot point of the discussion.

"So the body having been moved irrefragably," he continued judicially, "and the County Medical Examiner—which is Dr. Boyle—having been superceded in his duties, he himself—Dr. Boyle, ma'am—says he refuses to accept certification of the same as coming from was not authorized by himself and orders me up here to detain all persons in the house until such time as he himself may return for further examination."

"Detain us?"

"When will he come?"

"And what does that grating whisky-swilling old coot—"

The doctor's question had gathered too much emotional momentum to achieve a graceful finish before Tim spoke again, answering Linda.

"Some time late this afternoon, ma'am. He was just back on land after a mornin's fishin' and hungry for lunch and so were the men with him. Mad he was—swearin' mad—and would not hurry a step, he said, and the lot of ye could wait his pleasure. He'll be havin' his meal and collectin' his belongings, sir—"

This to Tom who he appeared to think would to some degree sympathize with the politician's interrupted holiday. "He and his friends will come back as they went in the automobile of was of them. 'Tis a four hour ride along the roads being crowded like on account of the holiday, and if they'll not be startin' till after lunch time —which isn't yet—'twill be six or seven o'clock before they reach town."

"And these people must wait all that time!" Dr. Parsons exploded.

"It's orders, sir," Tim was not enjoying himself. "And that's just what Dr. Boyle himself was after saying. How many have ye visitin' here, Mrs. Averill, may I ask?"

TOM spoke slowly. He had not failed to observe the quickly veiled sparkle in Linda's eyes and her flush of excitement.

NEW YORK CITY PAPERS TELL OF DOCTOR'S DEATH

Dr. F. B. Turk, Husband Of Former Dixonite, Died On Street

Copies of New York City newspapers have been received in Dixon giving details of the death of Dr. Fenton B. Turk, which was recently mentioned in The Telegraph. One of the metropolitan papers said:

Dr. Fenton Benedict Turk, eminent physician, internationally known research workers in biology and former Professor of Internal Medicine, died suddenly last night of heart disease while he was being removed to Flower Hospital after he had been taken ill as he was walking with his wife and son on Madison avenue between Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth streets. He was 75 years old.

Dr. Turk, who recently completed a book entitled "The Action of the Living Cell," on which he had been working for two and half years and which summarizes his studies of the cell in plant and animal life that extended over a period of forty years, had been a resident of New York since 1912, coming here from Chicago. He lived at 14 East Fifty-third street.

Born in Milwaukee on Aug. 25, 1857, the son of J. Byron and Sarah Ashby Turk. Dr. Turk received his M. D. degree from Chicago Medical College of Northwestern University in 1881. He served as house surgeon at the Alexian Brothers Hospital in Chicago. In 1893 he became Professor of Internal Medicine at the Post-Graduate Medical School.

In 1886 he was appointed a lecturer at the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia and in 1901 was called to the faculty of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Chicago. He lectured at the University of Rome in 1906. He was a delegate to the International Medical Congress of 1894, 1897, 1900, 1906 and 1913.

Dr. Turk began his researches in pathology in 1892 as a voluntary assistant at Virchow's Laboratory in Berlin. In the course of his long career he did original work in cytology, gastritis, peptic ulcer, traumatic shock and other fields. He produced a successful antitoxin for shock and other maladies.

At the outset of his career, Dr. Turk invented the gynecome, an instrument for exploration of the alimentary tract, and contributed other instruments in later years. He made studies in immunity to shock phenomena and related living processes. He also conducted investigations on cytostatic reaction in cell division, regeneration and metabolism in plants and animals and in other biological fields. He was the author of "Experimental Studies in Biology" and many other scientific papers.

Upon coming to New York Dr. Turk was admitted to practice in this State on Feb. 21, 1913, without examination by the State Board of Regents "because of having attained a position of eminence and authority in his profession."

He was a Captain in the Army Reserve Medical Corps, director of the research laboratory of the Turk Foundation, fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, a member of the American Medical Association, American Gastro-Enterological Association, Illinois State Medical Society, Chicago Academy of Medicine and Alpha Kappa Alpha fraternity and a corresponding member of the Royal Geographical Society of Lisbon and the Societe d'Urologie de France.

Dr. Turk also was a trustee of the Holland Society and a member of the Army and Navy Club, the Society of Colonial Wars and the Sons of the Revolution. He married Miss Avis L. Paine of Dixon, Ill., on June 10, 1897. They had two children, a daughter, Katherine, and a son, Fenton B. Turk, Jr., vice president of the American Radiator Company.

Entertained Class
The members of Miss Wicker's Sunday school class of the M. E. church were entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Wayne Bates.

A short business meeting was held, the president, Mrs. Ralph Canode presiding. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Miss Wicker. The roll was then called, each member responding with a verse from the Bible. The Secretary's report was read and approved, after which a few business matters were discussed.

The evening was spent in playing games, a different game being played at each table. Miss Ethel Schnap received the first prize and Mrs. Ralph Canode the consolation.

The hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Charles Ives and Mrs. Cecil Cravens served light refreshments. At a late hour the guests departed, all thanking the hostesses for the enjoyable evening.

Each member of the class which numbers 32, was presented with a lovely program for the year. The following items from it will be of interest.

Class History—On Friday, Nov. 13, 1931, Miss Wicker entertained the members of her Sunday school class at her home. It was a get-together affair to discuss what the class really wanted to be present. It was decided to hold one meeting and party each month, to do welfare work for Christmas, and a play was planned for the first of the new year. Officers elected were: President—Melba Phillips; Vice President—Vivian Brown; Secretary—Jessie Floto; Treasurer—Marjorie Erickson. Chairmen were elected for the following committees: Program—Mayde Speck; Welfare—Ethel Sheap; Play—Blanche Lyford. The first party was held at the home of Melba Phillips Nov. 17 with Marjorie Erickson as assistant hostess.

On Oct. 28, 1932, the class held a Halloween scramble supper at the home of Ethel Sheap and the following officers were elected to serve for the new year: President—Pearl Canode; Vice President—Ethel Sheap; Secretary—Ida Bates; Treasurer—Lucy Ives. Program Secretary—Melba Phillips.

Community High School Notes
The Future Farmers are planning on holding a corn show some time in January. A more definite report will be given later.

The foods classes have been serving breakfast the past week. Both light and medium breakfasts have been served. They plan to serve heavy breakfasts after Thanksgiving.

She's Marie Dressler's Double—Just for Fun

She's Marie Dressler's double—just for fun. And the fun of it is in having movie fans, theater men, even Hollywood acquaintances of the comedienne addressed her as Miss Dressler. Then Mrs. Elsie Southwick of Cleveland does her "Dressler-face-making"—and the Dressler fan goes away laughing, too. Here you see the resemblance. Mrs. Dressler and some of her "faces" are at the left. Mrs. Southwick, at the right, matches each expression.

The guests of honor at these breakfasts will be members of the faculty. One member is to be served each day.

It must be moving time. At least the assembly looks like it. Everyone has a new location. Some seem quite pleased over their new places, others are rather contrary minded.

Friday evening the Freshmen gave the upper classmen a return party. The evening was spent in games, relay, races and stunts. There were quite a number present. After an enjoyable evening refreshments consisting of apples and pop corn, were served.

Wednesday night Franklin Grove journeyed to Steward for two basketball games. The second team, or "lights" were defeated 20 to 3. The first team was defeated 32 to 9. If Franklin would have made half of their shots they would have had 30 points. They just couldn't get that "old basket eye". Snyder started the game out in good shape with five points in the first quarter and Steward made 6. In the second quarter Steward got started and ran up a considerable score. In the third quarter they didn't get more than three baskets, but in the fourth quarter Franklin let them get away again. Zoeller made the other two baskets of the Franklin score in the fourth quarter. As the boys are used to shooting a ball as high in the air as they like when they aim for the basket, the low ceiling in the gym was a hindrance to them.
